

Describe at least two institutional best practices

- One period of library allotted to each daily.
- The library has well list and airy reading room where various newspapers and magazines are for the students, Few of which are listed below:

Newspapers – Amar-Ujala, Danik Jagran, Nav Bharat Times, Hindustan Times, Hindustan Times of India.

Magazines – Pratyogita Darpan, Kurushetra, Edu. Track. India today, Cricket Today, Sandesh, Anveshika, Yagna.

Research Books and Journals – Educational Review, Psycholingua, Shikshan Anveshika, Education Today, Ambikeya, University-News, Indian Journal, Sports – Research.

Evidence of Success – This practice has really encouraged students many fields already stated. Students come from far villages like – Dhoom Manikpur, Kudi-Kheda, Bambawar, Dasna, Rajatpur, Dairy Machcha, Acheja, and so on where they not have access good reading material. Now they can visit the college library to reading material, Now they can visit the college library to read daily newspapers and magazines.

- The librarian writes a notation, “thought of the day” on the black-board, which encourages students to read the lines.
- The student’s have also learnt to consult catalogues.
- The booksare issued in this period by the students an they are engaged to read books, journals, and enlighten themselves.

Co-curricular Activities and Lab Activities for self-help Employment :

Objectives of the practice:

Lab activities are the significant practice to bring out their hidden talents.

- To develop skills in all fields makes confidence building and creativity.
- To create employment opportunities for the students.
- To make them earn while learn. To develop leadership quality among students in team-work.
- To get self-help employment through lab-activities.
